Falling Man Riesling

Falling Man vineyard is just over one acre of Riesling planted in 2001 on the western slope of Keuka lake. This vineyard gets its name from its extreme slope and tortuous climb back up the hill. Resting on excessively well-drained soils made up of outwash glacial material, the vineyard has varying and irregular topography, which can be seen very clearly when driving a tractor on the 30% slope.

At harvest, our 100% estate-grown Riesling is handpicked, and gently whole cluster pressed. We ferment in stainless steel at very low temperatures for 10-12 weeks. Aged on fine lees for 10 months and naturally cold stabilized. Vegan friendly.

Very tightly focused, with racy slate, pippin apple, fennel seed and acacia notes. The long, pure finish glistens nicely.
